STIGMA FIGHTERS

WHERE YOUR AD WILL GO

The screenshot shows the Stigma Fighters website layout. At the top is the navigation menu with links: STIGMA FIGHTERS, STORES, ANTHOLOGY, SUBMIT, ABOUT, PRESS, MERCH, DONATE, CONTACT, COLLAB, RESOURCES. Below the menu is a search bar. The main content area features a list of articles. Each article has a featured image, a title, a short excerpt, and a 'Read More' link. To the right of each article is a placeholder for an advertisement, labeled 'ADVERTISEMENT' with an arrow pointing to it. The articles shown are:

- AURA BISHOP
THE STIGMA OF PMDD
- BROOKE BOWIE
When someone says they "literally had an anxiety attack" when something stressful happens, try thinking about this next time. An anxiety attack is two words I would love to never say again, never have again, and it hurts when you hear someone use a term that is utterly devastating to...
- TAYLOR JONES
(NOT) BORN THIS WAY
- TAYLOR JONES - (NOT) BORN THIS WAY
I was always diagnosed with Bipolar Disorder (along with a diagnosis with PTSD). I was okay with that. It took some time, but I was okay with my diagnosis. I wasn't always. I went through stages. At first I was afraid of the doctors. But I was born with...

This block provides a detailed view of the website's content and ad placement. It shows three article cards, each with a featured image, a title, a short excerpt, and a 'Read More' link. To the right of each article card is a placeholder for an advertisement, labeled 'ADVERTISEMENT' with an arrow pointing to it. The articles shown are:
